ON THE COVER:

Flyin' to Fayetteville: The original plan was to drive to Fayetteville and visit the airborne and special operations museum on the first weekend of the New Year. For a variety of reasons, based on logistical challenges, that just didn't work out. Good thing too, given the icy clutches that Mother Nature embraced The Triangle with on January 7th! So, when the second weekend of 2017 broke warm and cloudy, the scheduling of this run felt like pure brilliance. Of course it was simple luck, but we'll take it.

We met at the recently reopened Leith BMW for our pre-flight session and, as always, they treated us in fine style. An outstanding spread of Panera breakfast sandwiches and a chance to try out the new high-tech coffee maker were a backdrop for cruisin' the showroom to check out the new rides. With the Rollers moved somewhere else it is now all BMW all the time. Some hanger time in (continued on page 4)

PAUL HOECKE Notes from the road
BMW's Are Like Potato Chips

Sometimes, you discover stuff about yourself only by comparing notes with friends. It's like viewing your mug in a mirror, I guess. Anyway, that's what happened the other day, during one of our Tuesday Bimmer Breakfast Club sessions. (FYI: We're a small, informal group of older car nuts, club members as well as ex-members, the operative description being 'older'.)

So there we were, four of us sipping our coffees and talking cars. After all, it's what we do every week. What was a bit different was the topic we drifted into. Having chewed through our usual subjects – diesel economy; Formula 1; extending the range of all-electric cars; how to keep hackers from screwing with autonomous vehicles; and so forth – we got to talking about how many cars each one of us owns. The result shouldn't have been a surprise, but it was.

It turns out that, collectively, the four of us can claim more than two dozen vehicles as our own. And naturally, about two-thirds of them are BMWs! Wow!

That works out to about six or seven cars per household, which is wa-a-y above the U.S. average of about two-and-change. But like any average, this one is a mixed bag. As any automotive statistics wonk will tell you, about a quarter of all U.S. households have no cars. Most of the rest – about two-thirds – are 'normal' one and two-car households, which leaves a paltry seven percent with three or more passenger vehicles in their garages, driveways and backyards – and places our little group at the high end (call it the insanity level) of that fraction.

Of course, given our love of automotive machinery, this finding merely confirmed what we'd known all along, namely that we are dyed-in-the-wool car nuts. So we kinda filed it away and went on to talk about our next road trip. But as we parted ways that day, I couldn't help but wonder how and why I've accumulated multiple vehicles – currently numbering seven, including four BMWs – over the years. Compared to my friends, I couldn't think of a good rational reason (the emphasis being on 'rational').

For one of my (usually) three breakfast buddies, BMWs are a larger-than-life avocation; so much so that it qualifies as a Holy Mission. Aside from his three or (depending on the season) four running Bimmers and the big honkin' diesel pickup, he has probably close to a dozen working projects and projects-to-be, all BMWs, parked around his property. And that's not counting the odd Jag, Caddy and what not he's got squirreled away for futures. That's serious mania.

As for my other two buds, I'd say they belong on the more practical end of the scale, meaning they stick to just three or maybe four vehicles. Mainly, it's for variety; you know, there's a daily driver (or two) and a fun car, plus maybe something like a Mercedes diesel crossover for long trips and an ancient Explorer for hauling mulch. So where does that leave little ol' me?

Granted, there are similarities. I too have an ancient hauler, a '75 F-100 I've owned since it was a mere five years old. And like today, I have always relied on one or two Detroit sedans, usually Fords, to do the family's daily errand work. Invariably, those have come and, after a very lengthy tenure, gone – sold or donated, just like the two Audis and two or three Volvos that have served the needs of various family members over the years. (It's hard to be precise after all the time that's passed.)

But as far as my BMWs go, they've always come – and stayed (well, most of them anyway).

Oh, I've lost a few, here and there. But the bald fact is that I have never sold or otherwise willingly parted with a BMW. And (with apologies to the Bard of Avon) that's where the rub is at. Namely, at the risk of being repetitive, I can think of no rational reason why, with parking space around the house at a premium, I'd keep (and work on) four of them.

Add to that the fact that they are all 'classics', which makes them rather more labor intensive than any new car; plus the way I catch myself casting lustful looks at other older Bimmers in the Roundel classifieds, and you can understand my conundrum.

So, having reviewed the evidence and done some serious soul searching, I can come to only one conclusion: I'm addicted to BMWs. Or, to put it in less psychiatric terms, my BMWs are like potato chips:

I can't have just one.

The Editor's Desk...

As you can see by our calendar we have a LOT of events planned already this year (both Tarheel Chapter sponsored and not). There are events to cover just about any interest, from wine and cheese to racing.

We are always looking for photos and event write-ups (and with no feasible way for Paul or myself to cover all these events) we would love to have you cover them for us.

All we usually need are a few high-resolution photos and a paragraph or two describing the event - what, where, when, etc.

Hearing about these events directly from you, our members, get's the word out and makes our activities better every year - you would not believe how these events grow once the word get out. (The Vintage for example - in year one I doubt there were 20 cars. Now they count them by the hundreds!)

One of the biggest benefits of this Club are the events and the majority of our membership never ventures out to them. Let's show them what they are missing! -ed.

Car Care Tips

Times have changed. Just following the manufacturer's recommendations is not enough maintenance if you plan to keep your vehicle past its warranty period. A 10-15k Mile Oil Change is not optimal and will harm your engine in the long run. Don't just follow the dashboard indicator. Think about it.

ON THE COVER:

an i8 or an M240 are a great way to start a day.

The weather wasn't perfect, of course. As we were assembling for a group picture, the heavens opened and it poured rain for 10 minutes. Just enough to take care of many fresh car washes ... but after that it was dry roads and steel gray skies for the balance of the day. Just about perfect.

We had a GREAT turnout for the event with a grand total of 24 cars and 36 smiling faces. With that many cars it was inevitable that we would get broken up on the 2 hour "sortie", but though the magic of walkie-talkies, cell phones and route maps, everyone hit the landing zone within a 5 minute margin. That was an amazing logistical accomplishment all by itself! We hadn't planned for this, but when we arrived in town it happened to coincide with the kickoff of the Martin Luther King Day parade. So, for the first time in living memory, a BMW drive was welcomed to a new location with a marching band. Nice ...

The Tap Room offered us a great lunch. No reason for anyone to be thirsty ... and the chicken 'n waffles were epic. Of course, having now eaten twice, it was time for the museum. Or a really long walk.

It is hard to describe just how good this museum experience is. The retired armed services members who manage the place are an incredible reminder of all that we should be thankful for. It is an honor to spend some time with them and hear their very personal stories of sacrifice and dedication. The museum tour is also terrific, both educational and a somber reminder that the freedoms we enjoy every day came neither easily nor cheaply. Each unit has its own history and none is "better" than the others, although I am always amazed when hearing the story of the 101st Airborne's story of holding the town of Bastogne during the Battle of the Bulge in 1944.

All too soon it was time to saddle up the Bimmers and head north. With the sun rapidly setting it was a pretty backdrop to what had been a terrific day. Good friends, super food, a great venue to explore and some awesome Carolina country roads. Let's hope there's a lot more of that in store for the balance of 2017. -Robert McIsaac

CLUB RACING REPORT

BY PAUL HOECKE

Preview: Tarheel Racing Season 2017

Hello, fellow club racing fans, and welcome to March.

Unlike the official 2017 BMW CCA Club Racing (CR) season which has been underway for the better part of two months, our local racing crowd's season is just getting started. But that's pretty much the norm hereabouts; what with all the uncertainty about the weather this early in the year (witness the storms that hit the Southeast in January), it's smart to wait until Ol' Man Winter is about gone.

The good thing about that is that it allows us to preview what the CR schedule has in store for our homegrown racing crowd in the next few months. And for good measure, we'll toss in what's afoot in the other racing venues local hot shoes tend to favor. So here goes.

The first eastern CR event is this month at Barber. Hosted by Heart of Dixie Chapter, it is scheduled for the last weekend (March 25-26). However, at press time, registration hadn't started as yet, meaning we don't know if any local racers were planning to run in this race. (We do know a few who love the track, but that doesn't mean they'll show up this time around.) We hope to have more details next month.

Next is the race at VIR on the second weekend in April. Co-hosted by Tarheel Chapter with the Vintage Drivers Club of America (VDCA), this 3-day, three-race affair is arguably the first major CR event – at least as far the East Coast is concerned. For one thing, past history says that it will bring a lot of racers, local ones as well as from out of state, to the track. (Unlike Barber, club racers have been signing up for this event since January.) What's more, our annual Club Race Outing on Saturday (April 8) gives the rest of us the perfect opportunity to cheer our friends on the track. And the presence of all that vintage machinery makes this a great spectator event for any car buff.

After VIR, the pace will pick up considerably, with two CR events in May and three each in June and July. However, taking into account distance from our home ground, only about half of these events (if that) are likely to see anyone from our neck of the woods take part. This includes a race at Mid-Ohio on the last weekend in May; one race in mid-June, at Roebing Road; and two in July – at Pittsburgh International early in the month and a week later at Summit Point. That's it for now; we'll leave the rest for later because of the likelihood of future schedule changes or additions.

Meanwhile, NASA's two 'local' regions are looking at a busy year. In fact, the Southeast Region got a jump on everyone by staging their 'Winter Meltdown' race early last month at CMP. And their 'Race for the Pi' is set to run at Road Atlanta a couple of weeks from now. (If you're curious about that event's label – it's derived from its date: 3/18/17. Get it?) However, filing deadlines force us to hold off reporting results for any local hot shoes who raced in either event until next month. The Mid-Atlantic Region, on the other hand, waited until this month to kick off its season at VIR. They're doing it on the same weekend as the CR event at Barber, followed by a race at Dominion late next month. They'll return to VIR in May for their annual 'HyperFest' race.

The ChumpCar Eastern Division also started their season early with a 14-hour race at Road Atlanta last month – but sans any Tarheel teams. However, local drivers are racing in the group's second event, a 12-hour race on VIR's South Course, which is underway as we speak. At this point we know of only one local team, Skidmark Racing, as taking part. But it's a safe guess that some if not all of the other locals – Bad Brains, No Panic and Red Rooster – are there as well, so look for their stories in next month's issue.

After VIR, the eastern ChumpCar calendar lists eleven more events. However, we expect only two, both of them at VIR, to see any of the local teams compete. The first one is a 24-hour endurance race on the full 3.27-mile course in mid-August; the other one is a Double-8-Hour race on the North Course the first weekend in December. So stay tuned.

As for our local pro team, BimmerWorld Racing (BWR), they kicked off their quest for gold in the IMSA Continental Tire SportsCar Challenge (ICTSC) at Daytona in January. Despite the added challenge of a longer race – four hours instead of the previous 2.5 – their two entries in the Street Tuner (ST) class finished with mixed but encouraging results. Starting 12th, Ari Belogh in the No.81 328i drove the first stint, handing the wheel to Greg Liefoghe while 11th in class. Liefoghe worked his way through the pack and, following a full course yellow, was running second until a mere five minutes before the checker, when he went off course. As a result, he had to be content with finishing seventh.

Meanwhile, the usual No.84 car duo of James Clay and Tyler Cooke was augmented with a new team addition – former Olympic swimming champ Tyler Clary. Recruited by Clay last year and having shown plenty of racing talent during six months' work with BWR, Clary didn't disappoint: He started tenth but had advanced to the fifth spot by the time he finished his stint! Cooke took over and was leading ST when a failed water pump belt forced him to pit for repairs. Fixing the problem cost a lot of lost ground, so that when Clay took over, he was only able to take the checker in 14th place. Notwithstanding these setbacks, Clay felt that BWR's drivers and cars had proved to be a "solid foundation" for the season ahead. As you read this, the team is about to head to Sebring for Round Two of the race series.

Charlotte Area II - Low Country Oyster Festival

It's January, so what are we to do. Go South Area II and we did. We left Charlotte on the 28th (except for 3 cars that left Friday) and thanks to Jim Bain, figured out a way to get to Charleston with only about 45 minutes of interstate driving. Great country and we found out we could really enjoy those flatland roads. Lunch was on our own, several of us found a little place called Jestine's Kitchen. Great home cooking and if you ever try it and there is a line, it is worth the wait. There is also the market to check out and then there is King Street. The Indigo Inn was sort of our gathering place. By the time one has visited King Street or whatever, the Indigo Inn was serving wine and cheese. No one would forgive us for missing that. Dinner was wonderful. Again the Bain's came through by recommending Hank's

Seafood Restaurant. It was very special as you can see from the picture above. Here comes Sunday morning and Boone Hall Plantation. As you can see from the picture, we had our little spot set up with all the fixings. All we needed was steamed oysters and there were plenty. Our group included some seasoned veterans, rookies, and I'll never eat one of those. All had a good time and there was plenty to eat besides oysters plus plenty of beer to drink. Our group sort of came to a conclusion on this adventure that "WE ARE AN EATING AND DRINKING GROUP WITH A CAR PROBLEM". Don't know how you feel about that, but it fits. We broke camp about 2pm and returned to the Charlotte area having spent a wonderful weekend with a great group of folks. We'll do it again in 2018 so don't miss a super event. -Bob Atkinson

Raleigh Dinner... Successful Even in the Rain

While the evening presented itself as sub-optimal from a weather standpoint, with spotty showers blanketing the Raleigh area on January 17th, it had no perceptible impact on the enthusiasm of the group that got together at the dinner at Triangle Town Center. Dodging periodic raindrops, we had a grand total of 15 cars and 21 people join in the fun at the California Pizza Kitchen.

Somewhat amazingly, as we congregated in the parking lot, the rain stopped and we were able to pop the umbrellas back into the Bimmer "bonnets". Perfect timing too, giving us a chance to get down to the hard core business of some serious tire kicking and story swapping. And boy, were there some great tires to kick! The color of the evening was clearly Silverstone, with both a beautiful M4 and a stunning M5 gracing the lot. The M5 was a stunning E60 example, with the magical V-10 for motivation. Great to see such a complete example out "in the wild".

In addition to a selection of X-vehicles, we also had multiple E30's out and about for the evening, and a range of Bimmers from across the years. That all made a great backdrop for catching up on future drives and other events we have planned for the coming months. The first half of 2017 is already getting to be very busy ... which is a very high class "problem" to have.

Once inside the KPC, the culinary team took their usual fantastic care of us. Fast service, good food and an excellent bier selection made for a great foundation for some fascinating discussions on future adventures we can pursue. There was interest expressed in a visit to the Tail of the Dragon ... lots of questions about the ///M Club Day ventures at Spartanburg ... shared experiences around the highlights of potential trips to Germany ... and the exploration of what one should really do when heading to Munch for a "European Delivery" of a new BMW. With the tourism items nicely covered, we then turned to the Mechanics Workbench, where Dan Connor provided us

Spring 2017 M Club Day

Big Fun @ BMW Performance Center!

What and Where:

- Each year, the Tarheel and National Capital BMWCCA Chapters sponsor three major events at the BMW Performance Center in Greer, South Carolina. These events give us access to the facilities and the instructors at a remarkable location ... at a deeply discounted price. This school is a special program designed by the Performance Center staff specifically for our chapter members.
- The price covers the training sessions ... and the use of current model ///M Cars for the event. M2's, M3's and M4's were the highlight of the adventure in 2016. We expect more of the same for the new year. Best of all perhaps, is the opportunity to have a great learning and driving experience while using someone else's Gas, Tires and Oil! Remember the old adage that "no car is faster than a rental!"

When:

- The spring event(s) are on April 22nd and 23rd (two separate events)

Next Steps

- Registration is now open ... and slots tend to move quickly. To register for the event, please follow this link: msreg.com/Spring2017MClubDay with an update on some of his project work at the Bimmer Performance Center. Dan now thinks they have a pathway forward to extract as much as 1,000 HP from a nicely turned out M6 ... and some thoughts on how to get the most from a wide range of the cars currently in the BMW lineup. This was clearly the equivalent of letting the "kids" loose in the candy store! So many great things to choose from.

Alas, all good things must come to an end. After celebrating another member's birthday, we headed back to the lot for a final view of the assembled Bavarians ... before lighting 'em up so we could cruise down the road for home. All in all, a great night with terrific people.. -Robert Mc-Isaac
